Julius Rosenwald Fund Collection. Supplement 2
1917-1946

One of the Leading Philanthropists in America,

Processed by Mattie McHollin

June 2013
Historical Background

In 1917 the President of Sears Roebuck, Julius Rosenwald established the Julius Rosenwald Fund for the express purpose in improving the status of all people. He became one of the leading philanthropists in America, donating millions of dollars to institutions such as the University of Chicago, Jewish organizations, historical black colleges and universities, hospitals, medical clinics and supporting issues that affected African Americans, such as education, health care, and political issues. He took a special interest in the condition of the African Americans education progress. From 1917-1932 the Foundation donated large amount of money for the buildings of schools in the rural south, which became known as the Rosenwald Schools. At the conclusion of the rural school program, 4,977 new schools were completed, 217 teacher's homes were constructed, and 163 shop buildings, constructed at a total cost of $28,408,520, served 663,615 students in 883 counties of 15 states.

Scope and Content Notes

Fisk University is the repository of two earlier Collection of the Julius Rosenwald Fund. In 1969 Fisk University Archives processed the initial collection and later processed a supplement to the collection when additional materials were donated to the Archives. Some years later Fisk Archives received additional materials that were donated to be added to the Rosenwald Fund Collection. Because of the size of the donated materials this collection is been processed as The Julius Rosenwald Fund Collection- Supplement 2. The Supplement 2- collection covers the years from 1917 to 1946, containing twenty-five document boxes and eleven custom size boxes.

The collection is arranged into eight series, sub divided into sub-series and sub-sub-series in order to facilitate accessibility for researchers. Within this collection you will locate biographical information on Mr. Julius Rosenwald, correspondence, financial documents, including cancelled checks, minutes of meetings of the Julius Rosenwald Board of trustees, a special study funded by the Rosenwald Fund on the establishment of vocational training schools for Negro Youth in several southern states, many plots plans and blue prints describing schools that were built and funded by the Rosenwald Fund, maps of states where schools were located, many clippings covering the activities of the Fund in education, civil rights, international events, clippings on Edwin Embree, and outstanding Negro Leaders, such as Dr. Midian O. Bousfield, Charles S. Johnson and one other study, not funded by the Rosenwald Fund, on Health Care Facilities under the direction of the University of Chicago.

Series 1- contain biographical information on Mr. Julius Rosenwald including his contributions.

Series 2- consist of correspondence, covering the years 1922-1934. This series is further divided into two sub-series. Sub-series 1 consist of Board of Directors minutes of meetings held during 1817-1930. The meetings and minutes are arranged by year and date consisting of 19 folders.
Series 3- correspondence from the Board of Trustees 1817-1930 consist of financial information, also including financial ledgers, and cancel checks. Cancelled checks are arranged by date issued and how the donated funds were distributed, such as to historical black colleges, Jewish organization, teachers' salaries, state board of education's and others. There are 213 folders, including financial reports that are arranged by year, from 1920-1927.

Series 4- consisting of correspondence, pertains to a Study funded by the Rosenwald Foundation Fund to study the feasibility of establishing trade schools in the southern section of the United States. This series is divided into sub-series. Sub-series 1- 1929-1931, correspondence, from and to the Rosenwald Fund administrators, considering the appointment of Charles S. Johnson of Fisk University, to serve as the Director of the Study. Sub-Series 2- correspondence, between Charles S. Johnson and the Rosenwald Foundation Administrators, with the appointment of Mabel Byrd, of Fisk University Social Science Department to be the primary interviewer in implementing the study. Mabel Byrd communication from 1929-1931 regarding the process of implementing the study, including developing and implementing surveys; detailing her travel to the selected cities; identifying the type of trade already established in the city; identifying and meeting with employers of the trade who would be willing to work with the project; meeting with key educators, who would be instrumental in the study, such as the mayors of the cities and Board of Education personnel who would have to approve the study. Sub-series 3 of this series, Mabel Bell correspondence finalized and identify the states where the schools would be located. This part of the correspondence is arranged by states, such as Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia. The final sub-sub-sub series consist of reports, pertaining to the projects.

Series 5-7 covers a variety of materials, such as addresses, articles, a book with the title “Building a Rural Civilization” Book is divided into section, Section 1-County Training Schools-Section 2-Supervision Industrial Teachers by Jackson Davis, General Field Agent for the General Education board-Reprinted from the south Workman for November and December 1920, included within the book you will find newspaper clippings and pictures of rural schools. Within this series you will find, Book Reviews about the works of Lillian Smith (Strange Fruits) and Reviews of Edwin R. Embree, books. Additional materials within this series, a broadcast by Embree, Rosenwald Fund reports (1920-1942, a scrapbook, that describe the efforts of a number of organization who through the initiative of the Wabash Avenue Department of Y. M.C.A, paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Rosenwald on February 7, 1942 for their general contribution to the development of the Negro Race. There is a large collection of newspaper clipping, highlighting the work of the Fund in support of the Negro from art to racial issues. Also there is a large collection of blue prints and maps of drawing of the type of rural schools from one room to six room schools with maps identifying the location of these schools. The last series in this collection pertaining to the Rosenwald Collection are numerous photographs

Series 8-consist much correspondence of a study found with collection but apparently was not funded by the Rosenwald Fund, but by the Rockefeller Foundation. The study was located in Chicago, Illinois, that appears to be looking at “Health Care Facilities in Chicago-University Clinics”. Most of the correspondence is between the director of the Study Dr. Michael Davis of the University of Chicago and Dr. Emmet B. Bay, selected to director of the study.
