Biographical Note: Samuel Leonard Smith (1875-1956), more commonly known as S. L. Smith, played many roles in his life including administrator, advocate, architect, author, and educator. Through traditional hard work and determination, Smith established himself as a national leader and key innovator addressing school plant problems, planning and construction, rehabilitation and landscaping.

Born October 10, 1875 in Humphreys County, Tennessee, Smith began his education in a log schoolhouse. Subsequently, he attended Pinewood Academy, Waverly Training School, and McEwen and Dickson Normal School. Smith studied and passed the Tennessee Bar in 1902. While practicing law in Tennessee, he earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Southwestern Presbyterian University at Clarksville in 1913. He received his Master of Arts degree from George Peabody College in 1918 and continued with post-graduate work, at Harvard and University of Chicago, in school house planning and health education. Smith was a chapter member of Psi Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity and was awarded the honorary service key for more than 7 years of research in education. In recognition of Smith’s leadership in the dual system of education, he was awarded an honorary Doctorate degree in Education from Southwestern Presbyterian University in 1932.

From 1914 to 1920, Smith worked as the 1st supervisor of rural schools and state agent in Tennessee financed by the General Board of Education. During this time, he studied under the late Dr. Fletcher B. Desslar at Peabody College, where he majored in school hygiene and schoolhouse planning. He designed community school plans consisting of one to six teacher classrooms. Smith was asked by Mr. Julius Rosenwald, in 1920, to establish and direct the Julius Rosenwald Fund Southern Office in Nashville, Tennessee, where he revised community school plans, helped to establish more than 5,358 Rosenwald schools and more than 10,000 libraries costing $33,000,000. With the establishment of the last Rosenwald School, the Eleanor Roosevelt School at Warm Springs, Smith retired from the fund in 1937. As Provost at the Peabody College, 1938-1947, Dr. Smith earned Emeritus status and was honored with the Algernon Sydney Sullivan award for his long and unselfish service to the college. After retirement, he worked as a consult in school plant problems and facilities.

Smith was involved in numerous organizations, directing many including the National Education Association, Tennessee Tuberculosis Association, and Davidson County Anti-Tuberculosis Association. As a trained lawyer, he securing justice and stood up for underprivileged groups as the President of the Tennessee Association for the Relief of Ex-Convicts. Upon his return from the Hoover White House Conference of Child Health and Protection, Smith led the Tennessee Conference on Child Health and Protection as General Chairman, bringing together prominent civic, educational, and religious leaders.

Smith married Rosa E. Beasley October 9, 1895 and had two daughters. Smith believed in Emerson’s definition of happiness, when he says “Happiness is a congenial occupation with a sense of progress.” Samuel Leonard Smith died September 9, 1956.
Scope and Content Note: The S.L. Smith Collection consists of fifty-nine boxes divided into three sections: the Julius Rosenwald Fund materials, S.L. Smith Professional materials, and collected materials.

Section I: Julius Rosenwald Fund materials
Within this section, there are twelve boxes filled with materials focused on and concerning the activities of the Julius Rosenwald Fund. The section contains correspondence from many prominent individuals in education and United States history including Julius Rosenwald, Booker T. Washington, Horace Mann Bond, Charles S. Johnson, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and President Hebert Hoover. There is a 1948 gift letter, located in box 1 folder 7, from Edwin R. Embree addressed to Dr. S.L. Smith agreeing to send all Rosenwald files, library and memorabilia to Fisk University. Section I also includes a variety of newspaper clippings, photographs, publications, printed materials, reports, writings, and miscellaneous all pertaining to the success and multitude of activities of the Rosenwald Fund. The collection contains publications of Julius Rosenwald and others including Cater G. Woodson. Photographs found of Rosenwald schools were placed with the main Rosenwald School photograph collection.

Section II: S.L. Smith Professional materials
Within this section, there are thirty-four boxes filled with materials focused on and concerning the professional career of S.L. Smith. The section contains an abundance of correspondence from prominent figures in education and United States history including many figures in education Mary McLeod Bethune, Dr. Fletcher B. Desslar, W.E.B. Du Bois, Charles S. Johnson, George Sullivan, and Dr. Fred McCuistion. There is a gift letter, dated 2007 (box 34 folder 7) from researcher Hugh Price. He donated papers of Smith’s, from his independent research, to the Fisk Library for the S.L. Smith collection. Section II also includes Smith’s course materials from the George Peabody College for Teachers, financial and membership records, and newspaper clippings honoring his achievements. In addition, there is a large capacity of records confirming Smith’s involvement in many organizations including records from the Davidson County and State of Tennessee Tuberculosis Association, George Peabody College for Teachers, National Education Association, and the Tennessee Association for the Relief of Ex-Convicts. The section has a wealth of manuscripts and publications authored by Smith focused on Negro health and education, Negro libraries, Spastic children, national conferences, and his own life. This section demonstrates the hard work of a scholar, over time.

Section III: Collected materials
Within this section, there are fourteen boxes filled with materials that do not fall under section I or II. The Collected materials consists of keepsakes Smith has collected throughout his life including newspapers clippings, photographs, printed materials, reports, writings, and other miscellaneous items.
