THE FISK HERALD.

L. U. Goin remains at the university during vacation hoping to make a class.

E. A. Adams and W. E. O'Hara remain at Hoffman.

L. J. Watkins is at Norris Creek Tenn.

P. L. LaCour rooms in Livingstone Hall. He spent a few days at Athens, Ala.

S. C. Jordan remained in the city two weeks visiting Miss Allen.

J. L. Wiley, the former assistant business manager of the FISK HERALD, is now an agent for Willey & Co., Springfield, Mass. Joe has a good business tact, and no doubt he will be one of the world's moneyed men.

Dr. P. R. Burrus, who is a graduate of Fisk's College Department and the proprietor of a drug store on Cedar Street, has begun to practice his profession.

Peter A. Rabb and Benjamin Cox will be here for vacation. Peter got his hands caught in the job press a few days ago. One finger was badly broken, the doctor thinks it must come off. He has our sympathy.

Hot!
 Picnic!
 Rainy!

Lonesome here!

What shall be the style of the Senior class hat.

LaCour locks up at ten always.

Latin, Greek, Conic Sections and Rhetoric are studied each day by some who are either behind or making classes Hoffmanites are enlarging their chapel so as to accommodate more than one wing of Fisk.

The vacant space between the barn and Prof. Wright's house is being rapidly covered with small houses.

One of the class of '91 still go over to see the wind mill performs its task.

Lights are not all out at 10 o'clock but there are only three to burn so it differs little.

Broken panes in all the windows have been replaced by E. J. Davis, the University painter.

A northern friend tells the boys that "squirted" is original and peculiar to Fisk. So much for original research?

Look at our lawn, buildings, situation and other advantages and we can use "How they grow" as a watchword for next school year.

A young lady in the French class thought to translate "Elle aime, elle, comme on aime a seize ans," thus, "She loves, she loves as I did at sixteen."

A large picture of the Jubilee singers stands on our desk. It was presented by Mrs. Wright.

Croquet is still the leading game of fun for those who are on the campus. From four to six is the favored hour but sometimes they play by moonlight after supper.

Two Alumni have sent their subscription. Let others imitate them.

Enos thinks his landlady gives him too much desert.

Who was the man that ate one meal a day and slept the other part of the day — Alumnus?

One of the Senior Normals of last year was surprised on waking, a little more than a week ago, to find Ponto, the Wright's dog, still alive. She was sure she drowned him the night before in molasses.

How women do dream! A second dreamer packs trunks all night for her friends and relations. To her dismay when the hack came all the trunk's bottoms fell out and the passengers were left.

Junior selling a book to a Middle Prep. — Junior — "Let us go over to Fred Douglass." He turns many pages. Middle Prep. — "That is not a recent picture" Junior — "It was the last one taken. The reason we have not a more recent one is that he is minister to Jamaica."

Young man who remains in the Hall was heard to say, "Miss D — give me your dress and I will write to you this summer."

Prof. and family playing croquet — Wife — "Oh for a ball!" Prof. — "Well sit down there and bawl."

An Alumni of '91 having bought a bottle of ink was asked what was he going to do this summer. He replied "I am going to write letters." Mr. X — "To Illinois I suppose?" Silence.
