SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Johnson, Charles Spurgeon, 1893-1956
Papers, 1858-1956
Size of Collection, 95.8 linear feet

Charles Spurgeon Johnson was one of the most significant men of his generation. Not only was he an eminent sociologist, but a race relations expert, author, lecturer, teacher, and administrator. The collection is a massive assortment of materials from his long career, and reflects the multifaceted career of Johnson at Fisk University where he was professor of sociology, director of the Department of Social Science, director of the Race Relations Department, and president of Fisk. His years with the National Urban League and with the publication Opportunity are presented in the collection.

The collection includes book reviews, periodicals, newspaper clippings, unpublished manuscripts, a large collection of surveys, interviews with former slaves and sharecroppers, photographs, correspondence, reports, speeches, pamphlets and monographs.

Some of the correspondents include Mary McLeod Bethune, John Hope Franklin, George Edmund Haynes, Horace Mann Bond, Benjamin Mays, Countee Cullen, Paul Robeson, W. E. B. DuBois, Alva A. Taylor, Ira de A. Reid, John Hay Whitney, and others. Documents and correspondence relate to the race relations institutes, the Fisk Social Center (both important sources of information on race relations in the United States); numerous organizations such as the General Education Board, the Conference on Science, Philosophy and Religion, the American Friends Service Committee, the Fellowship of Reconciliation, the Committee on Southern Fellowships, the Julius Rosenwald Fund, the United National Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization, and others. Papers of Johnson during his years as president of Fisk University, 1948-1956, relate to the business of the University.
